

Man GLG Japan CoreAlpha Equity

MONTHLY SUMMARY REPORT: 31 AUGUST 2022

REPORTING CLASS: Man GLG Japan CoreAlpha Equity I JPY

FUND DESCRIPTION

The Fund aims to achieve capital growth through investing primarily in the quoted securities of companies operating in Japan and provide a high total return for a suitable long term appreciation of the investor's capital. The Investment Manager selects stocks for investment from approximately the top 300 stocks by market capitalisation in the Tokyo market. It's approach is to invest in large-capitalised Japanese companies within the Tokyo Stock Price Index focusing on stocks with a low Price to Book Ratio and a high dividend yield. The Fund will be investing primarily in listed or traded shares of issuers in Japan, or which derive a substantial part of their revenue from Japan. It may also invest in other asset classes, including debt securities, currencies, deposits and other Funds and in other regions. The Fund may use financial derivative instruments where it is more economically effective than holding the underlying asset or for other efficient portfolio management purposes. The Fund is actively managed. The Fund does not intend to track either the Tokyo Stock Price Index or the Russell/Nomura Large Cap Value Index and is not constrained by them. Both the benchmarks are used for performance comparison purposes. The RNLVC benchmark is used for risk management purposes to ensure that the Fund is managed in a manner consistent with its investment objective and risk profile.

A complete description of fund aims is set out in the fund's prospectus.

COMMENTARY

The Fund rose 2.8% in August compared to an increase of 1.2% in TOPIX, and a rise of 2.1% in the Russell/Nomura Large Cap Value Index (all figures in yen, total return).

August started with Nancy Pelosi's trip to Asia, which caused tensions to rise in the region. Prime Minister Kishida met with the US Speaker to reaffirm that Japan would continue to work with allies towards stability in the Taiwan Strait, an area important for sourcing semiconductor chips. Amidst all the political jockeying, Japan finished the quarterly results season which was stronger than expected, despite the ongoing supply chain issues, raw material inflation and volatility of FX rates.

Many sell side analysts were more constructive when reviewing results and commented that companies (particularly exporters) were being conservative with forecasts. Our subsequent meetings with companies have reaffirmed the feeling that demand remains strong, with little sign of economic slowdown despite much market commentary exuding worries about recession. Jobs data for July also showed the Job/Applicant ratio rising again to 1.29x. Meanwhile, the TOPIX rose to its highest level since January before tailing off towards the end of the month, with Growth companies dragging the index lower.

Japanese inflation increased again with the headline figure reaching 2.6% in July as expected, while CPI excluding fresh food and energy was slightly higher than forecast at 1.2%. The yen weakened throughout August almost reaching 139 to the dollar. Effects of the weak yen were seen in July's trade figures, with exports rising at 19% YoY – good for large companies. However, the increased cost of raw materials and energy contributed to the value of imports rising 47% YoY leaving Japan's seasonally adjusted trade balance at a record negative amount. All of this is continuing to mount pressure on the Bank of Japan to finally move away from their ultra-loose monetary policy, perhaps timed around Governor Kuroda's term end in March next year.

Value returned to favour in August as bond yields rose around the world with the majority of central banks becoming increasingly hawkish. Looking at Russell/Nomura style indices, there was a complete reversal of last month's performance, Mid Cap Value produced the best return whilst Top Cap Growth was weakest. Cyclical areas of the market led the way as commodity prices began to stabilise after their sharp decline in early summer. Overall, macro data was more positive than negative, despite the market's concern about recession. Financials and defensive sectors were generally in-line. Highly-valued and technology-related sectors underperformed in August on some signs of weakness in semiconductor supply-demand, as well as the previously mentioned rise in bond yields.

*A word on terminology

Companies listed on the Tokyo stock market are divided into two groups by size: Large and Small; with Large further subdivided into Top (largest) and Mid (medium). Japanese listed companies are also divided into two groups by valuation - showing how high a price investors are prepared to pay for their shares. The measure used is the Price to Book ratio (PBR), which compares the company's share price with the accounting value of its assets. Companies whose PBR is low are known as Value (cheap), while those with high PBRs are known as Growth (expensive). Japan CoreAlpha targets stocks in the Large and Value segments. The share price performance of companies in these two groups is therefore key to the Fund's performance.

GLOSSARY

Active Share	Active share is a measure of the percentage of stock holdings in a manager's portfolio that differ from the reference index.
Annualised Return	An annualised total return is an average amount of money earned by an investment each year over a given time period. It is calculated to show what an investor would earn over a period of time if the annual return was compounded.
Annualised Volatility	Volatility is the rate and extent at which the price of a portfolio, security or index, moves up and down. If the price swings up and down with large movements, it has high volatility. If the price moves more slowly and to a lesser extent, it has lower volatility. It is used as a measure of the riskiness of an investment. Annualised volatility is an average annual amount of volatility over a given time period.
Beta	A measure of how sensitive an investment portfolio is to market movements. The sign of the beta (+/-) indicates whether, on average, the portfolio's returns move in line with (+), or in the opposite direction (-), to the market. The market has a beta of 1. If the portfolio has a beta of less (more) than 1, it means that the security is theoretically less (more) volatile than the market.
Comparator Benchmark	An index or similar factor against which a fund manager invites investors to compare a fund's performance.
Constraining Benchmark	An index or similar factor that fund managers use to limit or constrain how they construct a fund's portfolio. By default this is also a comparator benchmark.
Correlation	A measure of the interdependence or strength of the relationship between two investments. A correlation of 1 means that the two investments are perfectly synchronised, -1 implies that they move in symmetrically opposite directions and 0 means no relationship between them.
Entry Charge	The entry charge shown is a maximum figure and in some cases you might pay less. Please refer to your financial advisor or the distributor for the actual charges.
Exposure	This refers to the part of a portfolio that is subject to the price movements of a specific security, sector, market or economic variable. It is typically expressed as a percentage of the total portfolio, e.g. the portfolio has 10% exposure to the mining sector.
Information Ratio	A ratio of portfolio returns above the excess returns of a benchmark (usually an index) to the volatility of those returns. The ratio measures a portfolio manager's ability to generate excess returns relative to a benchmark. Volatility is measured using tracking error.
Market Cap	The market value of a company's outstanding shares. The micro dollar market capitalisation is from 0 to $500m, the small dollar market capitalisation is from $500m to $2.5bn, the mid dollar market capitalisation is from $2.5bn to $5bn, the large dollar market capitalisation is from $5bn to $12.5bn and the mega dollar market capitalisation is $12.5bn and above.
NAV	The Net Asset Value (NAV) represents the value per share. It is calculated by dividing the total net asset value of the fund (the value of the fund's assets less its liabilities) by the number of shares outstanding.
Ongoing Charge Figure (OCF)	The OCF is estimated and based on expenses and may vary from year to year. It includes management fees but excludes performance fees (where applicable) and portfolio transaction costs, except in the case of an entry/exit charge paid by the Fund when buying or selling units in another sub-fund. The charges you pay are used to pay the costs of running the Fund, including the costs of marketing and distributing it. These charges reduce the potential growth of your investment.
Overweight/Underweight	Refers to a fund's position in line with its chosen reference index. Overweight means a fund holds more of a certain security than the reference index and underweight means a fund holds less of a certain security compared to its reference index.
Performance Fee	The payment made to an Investment Manager if certain performance levels are achieved (often over and above any levels set out in the investment objective) within a set time period. Please refer to the fund's prospectus for a complete description.
Position Concentration	The proportion of a portfolio's net asset value represented by the largest (e.g. 5/10/20) positions.
Redemption Fee	This is the maximum amount by which your investment may be reduced prior to the proceeds being paid out.
Sector	A sector is an area of the economy in which businesses share the same or a related product or service. It can also be thought of as an industry or market that shares common operating characteristics. Dividing an economy into different pieces allows for more in-depth analysis of the economy as a whole.
Sharpe Ratio	The Sharpe Ratio is a measure for calculating risk-adjusted return, and has become the industry standard for such calculations. The Sharpe Ratio is the average return earned in excess of the risk-free rate per unit of volatility or total risk. The higher the ratio the better, with a number greater than 1 usually considered good, a number greater than 2 considered very good and a ratio of 3 or higher considered excellent. As it is an absolute measure of risk-adjusted return, negative Sharpe Ratios can be misleading and are therefore shown as N/A.
Synthetic Risk & Reward Indicator (SRRI)	Featured on the Key Investor Information Document (KIID), the SRRI is a measure of the overall risk and reward profile of a fund. Funds are categorised on a scale from 1 to 7 where 1 is the lowest risk and 7 is the highest. Typically, the SRRI is derived from the volatility of past returns over a 5-year period. Investors should be aware the indicator is based on historical data and may not be a reliable indication of the future risk profile of the Fund. The lowest category does not mean risk free.
Target Benchmark	An index or similar factor that is part of a target a fund manager has set for a fund's performance to match or exceed (including anything used for performance fee calculation). By default this is also a comparator benchmark.
Tracking Error	Tracking error is a measure of the divergence between a portfolio's returns and the benchmark or index against which it is managed.
YTD	Year-to-date.

RISK GLOSSARY

Investment Objective Risk - There is no guarantee that the Fund will achieve its investment objective.

Market Risk - The Fund is subject to normal market fluctuations and the risks associated with investing in international securities markets. Therefore, the value of your investment and the income from it may rise as well as fall and you may not get back the amount originally invested.

Counterparty Risk - The Fund will be exposed to credit risk on counterparties with which it trades in relation to on-exchange traded instruments such as futures and options and where applicable, 'over-the-counter' ("OTC", "non-exchange") transactions. OTC instruments may also be less liquid and are not afforded the same protections that may apply to participants trading instruments on an organised exchange.

Currency Risk - The value of investments designated in another currency may rise and fall due to exchange rate fluctuations. Adverse movements in currency exchange rates may result in a decrease in return and a loss of capital. It may not be possible or practicable to successfully hedge against the currency risk exposure in all circumstances.

Liquidity Risk - The Fund may make investments or hold trading positions in markets that are volatile and which may become illiquid. Timely and cost efficient sale of trading positions can be impaired by decreased trading volume and/or increased price volatility.

Financial Derivatives Instruments - The Fund may invest in financial derivative instruments ("FDI") (instruments whose prices are dependent on one or more underlying asset) typically for hedging purposes. The use of FDI involves additional risks such as high sensitivity to price movements of the asset on which it is based. The use of FDI may multiply the gains or losses.

Single Region/Country Risk - The Fund is a specialist country-specific or geographic regional fund, the investment carries greater risk than a more internationally diversified portfolio.

A complete description of risks is set out in the Fund's prospectus.
